Sweep snow away from your gas meter

Your gas meter has a pressure vent for safety. If it is buried in snow, you might have over-pressured gas in your house piping. This could lead to damaged gas appliances and gas leaks inside your home. To clear snow away from your meter without damaging it, use a broom, not a shovel.

Budget Plan customers—your payment has changed to reflect our weather and gas prices

- * This bill (for your gas usage in the month of February) reflects an adjustment for the actual weather and gas prices since your Budget Plan began last summer.
- * This new payment amount will be repeated monthly until your August bill.
- * Your budget will be recalculated during July, and appear in the August billing.
